| OSLI-Surface | | Other | State of Wyoming - OSLI | Plum Cr. Reservoir Project - Structural Stability - Recreation and Wildlife Area | 650,000 | The State Dam Safety Office and the NRCS Office in Newcastle have identified two reservoirs, located on state trust land, that serve as a popular fishing area and provide water to a variety of wildlife in the area. In their current condition the structures, referred to as the Upper and Lower Plum Cr. Reservoirs, are considered at risk due to structural instability, thus posing significant liability to the State. Numerous residential structures, located downstream, may be at risk should the dams fail. The intent of the project is to repair the upper reservoir and replace the lower reservoir to mitigate liability, maintain the fishery and wildlife benefits and allow for the continued use of the water for the agricultural operation. |
